A: In the properties window (you can press F5) click on the field "Extension" and select the extension ".{28DBB9C1-04FF-4FDC-AE2B-DE7590CCE556}" and you should be ok. I have put the extension with the numbers in parenthesis here just to show the difference from yours. EDIT: Also you should enable the property "Always install in the same location as previously installed" (under the "General" tab in the properties window). Q: Converting project from MVC to MVC2 - MVC2 doesn't have CompilerGeneratedCodeAttribute I am in the process of converting my MVC app to MVC2. I am using code gen to do the conversion. I have discovered that one of my classes does not appear to be generated. When I try to compile the code I get an error of "The assembly in the app domain referenced in the compilation was not found". I am using the Release version of .NET 3.5. Any ideas what could be causing this? Thanks in advance for your help. Have you added the.dll that contains the "generated" code to the GAC? History In 1986, OAMPB was rebranded as Western Ontario Food Growers Inc. In 2002, the provincial government changed its agricultural marketing practices to a single Crown Corporation, the Ontario Agricultural Marketing Practices Board (OAMPB) and changed its name to Western Ontario Food Growers Inc. Present day Western Ontario Food Growers is a collective of Ontario's leading fruit, vegetable and berry growers, representing more than 100 independent family farm businesses. It is the largest collective representation of independent fruit and vegetable growers in Ontario.
